The Need

Clyde & Co needed to analyse, cleanse and transfer legacy contract documents and related data.

The Solution

AnyData Solutions developed a custom tool to automatically analyse legacy contracts and data. In addition AnyData cleaned data and files to reclassify them for easier management. Today, Clyde & Co have clean contract data and the ability to securely interact with it.

AnyData[®] Contract Management (CM) makes it easy for Clyde & Co to manage legacy contract and compliance data.

Access to the right data for contract management is essential, as accurate data provides the foundation for contract management strategies, including monitoring compliance, analyzing sourcing performance, hedging procurement risk and other important contract management activities.

Six days after receiving legacy contract and data AnyData Solutions developed a custom tool to analyse documents and automatically identify items such as missing header information, unidentified documents and corrupted files.

The results of this analysis were so revealing it created the opportunity to reclassify data and documents in order to better manage them. AnyData cleansed the data, renamed document files and imported the new files directly into AnyData[®] Contract Management (CM) solution.
